5	At first, to explain about lobby area and "Shoho-ji" the art which draw by Katsuhisa Toda About Art Explanation: This "Shoho-ji" art shown as both the past and future of Shōhō-ji, and is said to portray the area from the Kamakura period through the Edo period. In earlier times, there was no Ryozen-machi—the entire surrounding area was part of Shōhō-ji. Over time, the town gradually developed, and the highest point of the area became the present-day Shōhō-ji. The lower left of the painting corresponds to what is now Kōdai-ji Temple; the slope leads upward to the current Shōhō-ji at the very top, while the foot of the hill is today's Gion area.

	Around the center of the painting, just below Shōbō-ji, is where the current Banyan Tree property is located. The colors in the artwork represent the four seasons: from left to right—pink cherry blossoms for spring, lush green trees for summer, red autumn foliage, and snowy winter scenery. 正法寺の作品について 霊山正法寺の作品を描いてくださったのは、水墨画家・戸田先生です。京都で歴史のある古美術商のてっさい堂さんの推薦の元、半年かけていただいた作品です。原型は白黒でしたが、左から桜満開の春・木々が生い茂った緑の夏・紅葉の秋・雪景色の冬を表してカラーに仕上げて下さいました。 鎌倉時代から江戸時代にかけて表現されたと言われており、昔は霊山町はなく、このエリア一体が正法寺だったと言われています。一番高台がいまの正法寺となり、左下のふもとがいまの高台寺、絵の中央が現在のバンヤンツリー、右下に降りると祇園エリアとされています。 正法寺には、伊勢神宮の聖なる木を使用した分社があり、昔は旅する人が祈れる神社を兼ねたお寺とされていたそうです。伊勢にお参りしている様子を描いたシーン、伊勢参りを表現した絵画もございますので、後ほどご案内いたします。(ロビー横・エレベーターの手前)
